KSB VALVES PRICE LIST

What factors affect the price of KSB valves in India and China?

Some of the factors that affect the KSB valves price list in India and China include labor costs, raw material costs, quality, logistics, and shipping prices:

1. Labor costs: If the labor costs are high, then the valves' price also goes up to make up for the higher production costs. The cost of labor in China is lower than in India. Hence, the price of KSB valves in China is relatively lower than in India due to less labor costs.
2. Costs of raw materials: The price of valves is going to be greater as well if the cost of raw materials is high. China is known for its low-cost raw materials, which will result in lower costs in China as compared to India.
3. Quality: The price may be greater if the valves are made of high-quality materials and are intended to last longer. Due to a competitive market and less-cost labor, China offers relatively lower prices, while India offers higher quality valves at a higher price.
4. Logistics and shipping costs: The cost of the valves will be higher if logistics and delivery are expensive. China's efficient logistics and transportation infrastructure will result in lower shipping costs and a relatively lower price as compared to India.
